After completion of my graduation last year, I always wanted to work in a big corporate. But did not have proper guidance nor had the courage to appear for an interview in a company.

I got to know about the skills training program of Pratham InfoTech Foundation through my friend and took admission. I used to also take tuitions of children so that I can also earn some money.

After the course completion, I was sent for few mock interviews to build my confidence and remove my fear of interview. Ultimately I got my dream job to work with India's second largest private sector bank- HDFC Bank in their MIS department with a salary of Rs.8000/-pm. More importantly I got to learn many things daily which will help me lifelong.

I have been working in ADFC-subsiidiary of HDFC Bank for the past 5 years but never got into the permanent roles of the bank- primarily due to low confidence and poor English Speaking Skills.

I took the early morning shift of 7am so that I could attend the evening class of 5pm to 8pm.

I completed the course and am happy that I have been placed in Deutsche Bank in their Security Markets Team.

I used to work as a contract employee with Axis Bank in their backoffice processing earning a salary of Rs.4500/- per month.

But I wanted to get into the permanent roles of the bank. I tried a lot but failed due to poor English speaking skill, poor presentation skills and lack of knowledge about the industry.

I quit my job and completed the course offered by Pratham InfoTech Foundation and now I am working with Axis Bank as their confirmed Employee earning Rs.12800/- per month.
